To Whom It May Concern:

Greenville Junior and Senior High School, Greenville, Pennsylvania is one of only four (4) high schools in Pennsylvania to achieve National Blue Ribbon School status. We are committed to meeting the wide range of needs of our students, while honoring their life-long learning, leisure, and career choices.

We have replaced our current 8th grade career guidance material with The Focus Life Institute's online program entitled Finding Life's Direction. This educational programming component assists students in finding out who they are, how to understand and work with others, and a career path for their future.

Finding Life's Direction is a student development tool containing educational materials that meets the requirements of PA Act 339. It is unique in its presentation because of its individualized guidance possibilities. Finding Life's Direction uses a personalized profiling system which match students' individual behavioral style with the occupations in the 16 national career clusters.

It was a fun and enjoyable educational experience for our students. The learning materials were easy to access because of the online format while giving our Career Guidance Counselor the flexibility to pick and choose sections that best meet the needs of our school's objectives.

Consider our experiences:

- Instructors have the freedom to create own activities to accompany online lessons.
- Students enjoyed the material followed by a hands-on, energetic activity that allowed them to interact with other students.
- Unlike other inventories, students connected with the real-life application and fit to their personality and potential career choices.
- Students thoroughly enjoyed the implanted videos within the lessons; these media break-up the monotony of a full lecture period.

We would highly recommend that you review the online modules from The Focus Life Institute that offer practical tools to help students create their personal vision, discover their career path and set goals for their future.
